IV. REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

President John W. Shumaker advised the Trustees that Bill Rice will retire as Chancellor of the UT Health Science Center effective November 1, 2002. Dr. Jim Gibb Johnson will serve as Interim Chancellor during the search for a permanent Chancellor.

As background for his report on the vision and direction of The University of Tennessee, President Shumaker noted that the University’s agenda, priorities and goals must be anchored firmly in those of the State of Tennessee. President Shumaker called on Professor Bill Fox for a presentation on the economic climate of the State and the University.

President Shumaker said the information presented by Professor Fox presents significant challenges for The University of Tennessee in that the University and the State must work together to improve the overall economic situation within Tennessee. The data suggest that The University of Tennessee system should be concerned about the low rate of participation by Tennessee citizens in higher education. The University needs to work closely with the other educational systems in the State, including the P-16 systems, to make sure education is encouraged for students throughout their tenure in the educational system. The University must become more focused on helping to make sure each student who enters The University of Tennessee is encouraged to persist and graduate. The school of thought in higher education has traditionally been to place the burden of educational success upon each individual student.

President Shumaker said Dr. Fox’s presentation makes more obvious the need to invest more money and effort into research and development at The University of Tennessee. With talented faculty and available research opportunities, the University is positioned to enhance the economic development of Tennessee and the Southeast. The University must work together with its colleagues in education, business and government to make sure educational and research opportunities in Tennessee improve over time.

President Shumaker strongly believes that The University of Tennessee must strive to provide the citizens of Tennessee the best university they can afford while always encouraging them to afford the very best. Entrepreneurial energy must be directed in a creative, resourceful, nimble and flexible way, and bureaucratic impediments to progress must be removed. The University’s goal over time is to become more accountable for the way it uses State resources.

The President distributed the UT Scorecard (Exhibit 1) which sets forth his personal performance goals as President of The University of Tennessee as well as the institutional goals and systems of accountability that will help define the future trajectory of the University and the State. By the year 2010 The University of Tennessee will be an internationally preeminent research university system that serves and focuses on the needs of the people of Tennessee. In pursuit of that vision, the need and commitment to strengthen the University’s investment in equity and diversity must remain in the forefront. The academic and administrative structure of The University of Tennessee must be examined to make sure it is consistent with the best practices of the best universities in the country. The University must establish a research foundation in order to provide a more aggressive and creative entrepreneurial research environment that will allow for the acceleration of research activities. The University’s administrative systems must become more responsive and supportive of the research needs of the research community and strengthen the relationship between UT and UT-Battelle.

President Shumaker stressed the importance of accountability. A scorecard has been developed measuring quality and institutional effectiveness.
External review of staff compensation policies must be developed in an attempt to bring not only faculty salaries, but staff salaries as well into parity with local labor markets. Long term measurements of faculty and staff satisfaction, not only of productivity but also with regard to work environment, need to be developed and improved.

A feasibility study is being planned to determine whether the University is ready for a dramatic capital campaign within the next year. If the feasibility study is positive, plans are to launch the campaign by September 2003, if not sooner.

The University administration wants to strengthen the Board’s role in helping guide the University. There will be ongoing board orientation and evaluation workshops. In order for a capital campaign to be successful, effective relationships with the University faculty, staff and students must be fine tuned and used aggressively to make sure the University’s message gets out all across the State. Relationships with federal and state policy makers must be fostered.

President Shumaker noted a number of specific items he hopes will be accomplished by June 2003 including a plan of action for The University of Tennessee Space Institute in Tullahoma and reconstituting the chancellor’s position in Knoxville.

Calling the Board’s attention to the scorecard, the President noted that it will evaluate progress in a number of areas. An effort will be made to achieve preeminence as a major force in the field of research. A goal has been set to have average ACT scores for entering freshman up to 26 by the year 2010. Retention and graduation rates will also be measured for traditional students and student athletes. Diversity among the student body and faculty will be evaluated as will student success rates on professional and licensing exams. Business start-ups, businesses incubated, patents, licenses, royalties and associated income will be tracked. President Shumaker said the University’s best efforts will be directed toward defining long term, very ambitious goals and tracking them.

At its most recent meeting, the Liaison Committee heard reports on a number of topics including the statement of balances and expenditures by categories on the budget, technology issues, the proposed Doctor of Physical Therapy program, the $28 million engineering building which is ahead of schedule and under budget, the SimCenter and its future location in a TVA building adjacent to the campus, and phases one, two and three of dormitory projects. Chancellor Stacy reported to the Committee that U.S. News and World Report now ranks UTC in the top 10 percent of universities with Master’s degree granting programs. UTC’s six-year graduation rate is competitive with metropolitan peers and addresses the needs of the region effectively. The dormitory occupancy rate is over 90 percent. The UTC freshman class is outstanding. Mr. Thornton noted that the SGA at Chattanooga is campaigning for the United Way. Last year, contributions from UTC outpaced those from campuses in Martin, Knoxville and Memphis.

UT Martin Liaison Committee. Mr. Jerry Jackson reported that UT Martin’s fall headcount enrollment was down by 181 and the FTE enrollment was down by 71. However, first-time, full-time freshmen were up from the previous year as were the average ACT scores of first-time students. New admission standards will become effective for the Fall 2003. The Bob Carroll Football Building was dedicated during Martin’s homecoming football game. Named in honor of former educator, head football coach and administrator, Bob Carroll, the building was made possible by hundreds of private gifts that were received as a follow up to an initial gift from Mrs. Kathleen Elam.
